

December marks end of year tax preparation and fiscal adjustments for many people. We are trying to get our financial house in order for the new year and we need to do it right now while there is still time. That preparation is nothing compared to the phrenic Christmas rush we so often see around us! However, Advent, the season of anticipation and preparation, beckons us to anticipated, delayed gratification. Wait! Prepare! The call of the Baptist for inventory and repentance strike at the heart of a culture of plastic, immediate gratifications. So often we are thrust into the season of Christmas without adequate preparation. The profit-now-at-all-costs mentality pushes retailers to start so early that in our mind the season is tired and complete before it has ever arrived. (I walked into Walmart on the 13th of November and was bombarded by all things Christmas, Thanksgiving notwithstanding!) I urge you to slow the pace, quiet the mind and heart to reflect on the Gift, waiting on tip-toes for those wondrous words, “to us a Son is born.” The liturgical season of Advent, which literally means that which comes before, divides our attention between preparation for the birth of the Christ Child and preparation for the second coming of the King of Kings. If Christ were to return tomorrow, would you live differently today? Advent calls us to that difference with its divided focus. Take these four weeks to prepare a place, undefiled, in your heart for Baby Jesus and to prepare a life as offering to the coming King of Kings!

Christmas, The Feast of the Nativity, celebrates incarnation, literally to take on or become flesh, by a God who is spirit. Common societal practices often divert our eyes to trees, gifts, or parties and spending more that we need to. Contrarily, the Christmas celebration directs us to stand still in awe at the wonder of the Son of God coming to us in our own flesh and blood, one of us, to ponder in our heart the wonder of the Incarnation. Emmanuel is not some far off deity pulling the levers and manipulating creation. Emmanuel is with us and for us. He knows us as we are for he is born as we are born, lives as we live and dies as we shall. As one of us and for us, he will offer himself as substitute for us, to absorb God’s abhorrence of our sin. No wonder we join with the angelic chorus in praising God for The Ultimate Gift—himself! I invite you to celebrate with the Body of Christ the Incarnation of the Son of God for us! Services for this season are listed here for you:

November 30	7:00 p.m.	Wednesday Worship
December 7	7:00 p.m.	Wednesday Worship

Lynn Ann and I will be taking a few days off after the Feast of the Nativity to relax, refresh and return for continued serve in the Kingdom. A blessed Christmas celebration to you and yours and thank you for the opportunity to serve.

NOTES FROM PASTOR JON

I find it fascinating that our culture now celebrates Christmas for 1/6th of the year — for two months from November 1st through December 25th. Even the Church, those whose beliefs give real meaning to all this “celebrating,” only celebrates it for 12 days. The celebration of the birth of Jesus as we have come to know it today didn’t really predominate as a festival of the Church until the Late Middle Ages. I think a lot of the reason for our culture’s celebration of Christmas is because the story behind it seems cute and safe — a baby, born in a manger — shepherds, animals, peace and tranquility. But notice that our culture doesn’t celebrate Easter in that way. The reason behind the festival Easter is confrontational and cosmic-shaking, and life-altering. Death for my sins? A dead man rising back to life? Not so cute. And the Church celebrates those facts for seven weeks — in fact, every Sunday!

Yes, I am a bit of a curmudgeon when it comes to Christmas: the lights, the decorations, the parties, the “stuff” of Christmas. But the importance of what we celebrate at Christmas is joyful and glorious and life-transforming — even life giving. God coming to us and taking upon Himself our lot so that He might buy us back from what we are, and re-create us into one that is His — eternally. That’s the beauty and joy of Christmas.

Sheri, the girls, and I wish you and your family a blessed Christmas as together we celebrate the birth of the Christ, the Son of God, who has come to share our flesh so that He might show God’s great love for us by dying and rising again to save us from ourselves — so that we might also die to our sinful ways and rise with Him to a new life.

His Peace Be With You, Pastor Jon

Stephen Ministry

Next month, we will start another Stephen Ministry training class. Stephen Ministers are well-trained to be caregivers to those in need — to listen, pray, and bring God’s Word and promise to bear on the problem or hurt or need. After 50 hours of training, candidates are commissioned and then will be assigned a care receiver when the need arises. If you have a heart for helping others, for listening, for praying, for being there when others need someone to listen to them, Stephen Ministry might be a way for you to serve. If you have any questions or are interested, please contact me ASAP so we can get you in on this class.

I stood in line today to make a purchase and wrote out my check (yes, I'm that person, move on). If I wasn't already aware I am the only person left in the world that prefers checks over debit or credit, the cashier's slightly traumatized face made it clear. Newly hired for the Christmas rush, she had not yet been trained in this archaic payment form. She also did not appear to know the manager's name since she stood looking in hope that she would catch the other woman's eye and she would magically sense the need for her to come to register 9. The two of us began that awkward dance of patience and tension — I didn't mind her lack of experience but the line forming behind me suggested some urgency.

The seventeenth century French philosopher, Blaise Pascal, observed, "Man's sensitivity to little things and insensitivity to the greatest things are marks of strange disorder." It's a little bit insane to consider that hundreds of years later we are still consumed with begin sensitive to little and insensitive to the greatest. The build up and the aftermath of the recent election are frightening examples of how we can easily become so self-absorbed we lose sight of the big picture.

In his book 52 Little Lessons from A Christmas Carol, Bob Welch reminds us that Jesus answer to what is greatest took only a few words to express, "You want to know what's important? Relationships. With God. And with people." That's Bob's way of paraphrasing, "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind. This is the first and greatest commandment. And the second is like it: 'Love your neighbor as yourself.'" In this season of celebrating the most holy of loves — there is no greater thing we can do — everything, EVERYTHING falls into place as a consequence.

It cost me nothing to extend my patience and understanding in that situation, to smile and assure her that everyone needs time to learn. It serves us both to extend grace — to not be one more person making the day long and unnecessarily difficult. Kudos to the manager as well who patiently explained the process — all 46 steps, and then reassured her she didn't need to remember all today, just call again when it came up and they'd go over it again. There's a good chance the next person in line holds this love in high regard — as I made my exit I heard her gently say, "This is tax exempt, we might need some training on this too." This season strive to keep the greatest things in the forefront. Relationships. With God. And with people.

"Advent: the time to listen for footsteps — you can't hear footsteps when you're running yourself." Bill McKibben

I found the quote above as I was preparing for our SWAT Family Advent night. During Advent, we prepare for Jesus' coming. The whole idea is to take time to prepare not only for the wonder of Jesus's birth at Christmas, but also to consider Jesus' return. So many resources are available online to use with your family as a way to slow down and "listen for the footsteps." I hope you will take time this Christmas season to find a meaningful way to remember the love of God for us to send his only son.

Each Hope family will receive an Advent calendar at the beginning of December. Here are a few other places to start looking for an Advent idea that fits your families schedule:

2017 Coffee Hour and Greeters!

The time is here to sign up for those volunteering in 2017 for Coffee Hour and Greeters! First, our thanks for all those who helped serve in 2016. You are much appreciated. For 2017, the sign up is now available in the Narthex.

Get your groups together and help host our special time for fellowship; the Coffee Hour! If it is 1 week, 2 weeks, or 1 month, we would love to have you host. Detailed directions are given.

If you have the desire to extend a warm welcome to worshippers at Hope, the please serve as a greeter. You are asked to come 15 minutes before a Sunday service (8:00 a.m. or 11:00 a.m.) and greet all as they come to worship. We encourage you to commit for a month if possible.

Please sign up now so we can plan our year and you will get your preferred times to serve! Reminders will be sent out a few weeks before you volunteer. The sign up board is in the Narthex or you can contact Debbie Hasty at dhasty@hope-lutheran.org or 281-482-7943.

Ladies Guild

The calendar pages are about to close their duty for the year, and a new calendar will soon take its forgotten place. The Christmas season brings anticipation of the advent and the birth of Jesus Christ, the Savior. A sense of Joy and Hope fill the air and renew our wanting to share with friends and family. We do it with cards, gifts, good wishes and sharing the Good News.

We have the opportunity to share the Gospel with friends and neighbors, but at times we might assume some people we meet in everyday life are not "harvestable" or not interested. Maybe we are just timid about speaking or wary of rebukes. How blessed we are that the work of people being receptive is up to the Holy Spirit. He gives the wake-up call that calms our assumptions and touches the hearers.

We are told that the fields are "ripe with harvest." What better time than now to include the ethnically and generationally different. . .for it is not for us to convert, but to share the Good News.

Sharing Joy together will be the theme of our Christmas Party on December 13th. Our shared meal will begin at 6:30 p.m. Our Executive Board will host the evening providing the desserts. Secret Pals will be revealed and new Pals for 2017 drawn. No Secret Pal? No matter, bring a gift and receive a gift. This is always a special evening for us all, your coming will make it even more so.

"O, Come, All Ye Faithful. . ."

Flower Chart

The 2017 Flower Chart sign up for Altar Flowers is now available in the Narthex. The cost is $30.00 per arrangement. Each arrangement can be taken home after the 11:00 a.m. service. (Please do not take the liner home.) Check should be made payable to Hope Lutheran Church and placed in the envelope attached to the Flower Chart.

Please pay for your flowers when you sign up. This will save the office staff time and make the process easier and more efficient. There is a place on the sign up sheet to mark when you pay — check or cash. In the past cash has just been placed in the envelope, and we have no way to track that payment, so please make sure you mark as “paid with cash”.

Questions? Contact Katherine Kohn or Debbie Hasty at 281-482-7943. Thank you.

Mailboxes

It's that time of year again — the dreaded “Mailbox Cleaning.” Please, please, please make an effort this month to clean out your mailbox and anything that you have left on top of the mailboxes. In January, the mailboxes will be re-alphabetized and everything left will find its way into the trash.

Any questions — call me. Thank you.

Stephen Ministry

Advent—the coming of the birth celebration of Jesus Christ, our Savior. We think, we pray, we read and we hear of Him during the coming weeks.

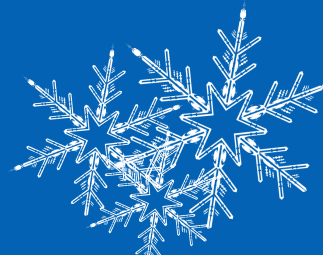

We know about the shepherds, the angels and little town of Bethlehem, but actually we know little about His early life. We are very familiar with His later life and His last days.

In His life, Jesus suffered temptation, scorn, mockery, no permanent earthly home or always faithful friends. What did He do? He bended the knee, folded hands, looked upward and prayed.

Now, many years after His ascension, we still know and believe His promises to be with us, to guide us, and to help us when burdened or troubled.

Remembering this, we are aware that He has given Hope the Stephen Ministry as one of the promises fulfilled. Remember too, He does not force, He offers. Some one to talk with, to pray with, to share joy and tears with, and someone who offers faithful privacy without judgment, these are the invisible gifts your Stephen Ministers give to you this Christmas season. To accept this gift will be your gift in return.

We wish you a joyous and blessed Christmas!

Christmas Potluck

Mark your December calendar for our Annual Christmas Potluck on Wednesday, December 14th at 6:30 p.m. in the Family Life Center. This year we also will have the opportunity to see our Sunday School children perform their Christmas Musical.

We would love to have you join us for food, fellowship, and entertainment. We ask that you bring either a favorite main dish, side, or dessert (more than one dish if you are inspired).
